

THE PROGRAMME OUTCOMES
(POs)

Programme Outcomes (POs) of Bachelor of Science (B.Sc.) Programmes

Programme Outcomes (POs) are specific learning outcomes that a student is expected to achieve upon completing a particular program of study. In the case of a B.Sc. program, some of the POs that students should be able to demonstrate by the end of the program include:

- PO-1. Demonstrate a strong foundation in their chosen field of study, including a solid understanding of core concepts, principles, and theories.
- PO-2. Apply scientific methods, techniques, and tools to analyze and solve problems in their chosen field of study.
- PO-3. Communicate scientific ideas and information effectively, both orally and in writing, using appropriate scientific terminology and conventions.
- PO-4. Use critical thinking and analytical skills to evaluate and interpret scientific data, and to make informed judgments and decisions based on evidence.
- PO-5. Work effectively in a team, demonstrating interpersonal skills such as collaboration, leadership, and conflict resolution.
- PO-6. Demonstrate ethical and professional behavior, including integrity, responsibility, and respect for diversity.
- PO-7. Be aware of the impact of scientific knowledge and technology on society, and to consider ethical, social, and environmental implications when making scientific decisions.
- PO-8. Pursue lifelong learning and professional development, keeping abreast of new developments in their field of study, and adapting to changing contexts and challenges.

These POs are designed to ensure that B.Sc. graduates are well-prepared for careers in scientific research, industry, healthcare, education, and other fields. By achieving these POs, students are expected to be competent, confident, and capable of making meaningful contributions to their chosen fields of study.

Programme Outcomes (POs) of Bachelor of Commerce (B.Com.) Programmes

Programme Outcomes (POs) are specific learning outcomes that a student is expected to achieve upon completing a particular program of study. In the case of a B.Com. program, POs that students should be able to demonstrate by the end of the program include:

- PO-1. Demonstrate a strong foundation in accounting, finance, marketing, and management, including a solid understanding of core concepts, principles, and practices.
- PO-2. Apply business methods, techniques, and tools to analyze and solve problems in various business contexts.
- PO-3. Communicate business ideas and information effectively, both orally and in writing, using appropriate business terminology and conventions.
- PO-4. Use critical thinking and analytical skills to evaluate and interpret financial and other business data, and to make informed judgments and decisions based on evidence.
- PO-5. Work effectively in a team, demonstrating interpersonal skills such as collaboration, leadership, and conflict resolution, necessary to achieve business goals.
- PO-6. Demonstrate ethical and professional behavior, including integrity, responsibility, and respect for diversity, and adhere to ethical and legal business practices.
- PO-7. Be aware of the impact of business activities and decisions on society, and to consider ethical, social, and environmental implications when making business decisions.
- PO-8. Pursue lifelong learning and professional development, keeping abreast of new developments in business and adapting to changing contexts and challenges.

These POs are designed to ensure that B.Com. graduates are well-prepared for careers in finance, accounting, marketing, management, and other related fields. By achieving these POs, students are expected to be competent, confident, and capable of making meaningful contributions to the business world.
